While we strongly support the protection of privacy on the Internet, we do not have control over, and cannot be responsible for, the actions of our client institutions or other third parties. We encourage you to review each such client institution's or third party's privacy statement and to otherwise understand its privacy practices, before providing personal information directly to it or in our forms on which it is named.

3. Personal Information We Collect

We collect personal information to operate effectively and provide you with the best experiences with our services. You provide some of this information directly, such as when you create an account, start or submit a form hosted by us, or contact us for support. We get some of the information, such as your IP address, by recording how you interact with our services. We may also get information about you from our client institutions or other third parties.

By voluntarily providing us with your personal information, you represent that the personal data is accurate and that you are the owner of such personal data or otherwise have the requisite consent to provide it to us.

Information That We Collect From You On Our Websites

As is true with most websites and services delivered over the Internet, we gather certain information and store it in log files when you interact with our Websites and services. This information includes internet protocol (IP) addresses as well as browser type, internet service provider, URLs of referring/exit pages, operating system, date/time stamp, information you search for, locale and language preferences, identification numbers associated with your devices, your mobile carrier, and system configuration information. We may also share anonymous data about your actions on our Websites and our mobile applications with third party service providers of analytics services. We do not link analytics information to your personal information.

Information Collected From Other Sources

We may also obtain other information, including personal information, from third parties and combine that with information we collect through our Websites. For example, we may receive information from client institutions you have expressed interest in and test scores that you want associated with your application. In addition, we may have access to certain information from a third party social media or authentication service if you log into our services through such a service or otherwise provide us with access to information from the service.

The Websites may include social media features, such as the Facebook Like button, and widgets, such as the Share This button or interactive mini-programs that run on our Websites. These features may collect your IP address, which page you are visiting on the Websites, and may set a cookie to enable the feature to function properly. Social media features and widgets are either hosted by a third party or hosted directly on the Websites. Your interactions with these features are governed by the privacy statement of the companies that provide them.

Any access that we may have to such information from a third party social media or authentication service is in accordance with the authorization procedures determined by that service. By authorizing us to connect with a third party service, you authorize us to access and store your name, email address, and other personal information that the third party service makes available to us, and to use and disclose it in accordance with this Policy. You should check your privacy settings on these third party services to understand and change the information sent to us through these services.

4. How We Use Personal Information

We use the personal information we collect for a variety of purposes. The legal basis for our processing of personal information will depend on the specific context in which we collect it. We will retain personal information for as long as it is needed.

General Uses

We may use the information we collect about you (including personal information, to the extent applicable) for a variety of purposes, including to: (a) provide, operate, maintain, and improve our services and develop new services; (b) enable you to access and use our services; (c) process and complete transactions and send you related information; (d) send transactional messages, including responses to your comments, questions, and requests; provide customer service and support; and send you technical notices, updates, security alerts, and support and administrative messages; (e) monitor and analyze trends, usage, and activities in connection with the Websites and services; (f) investigate and prevent fraudulent transactions, unauthorized access to our services, and other illegal activities; (g) personalize the Websites and services, including by providing features or advertisements that match your interests and preferences; and (h) for other purposes for which we obtain your consent, such as marketing communications. You can revoke your consent to receive marketing communications from us by following the unsubscribe instructions included in our marketing communications. If you revoke such consent, we will create a record of your preference regarding future marketing communications, which will require us to retain your email address. We may also need to share your preference and email address with third parties solely for the purpose of ensuring that you no longer receive marketing communications from such third parties. We will not discriminate against you as a result of your decision to opt-out of marketing communications.

Legal Basis for Processing (GDPR)

If the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) is applicable, our legal basis for processing your personal information will depend on the personal information concerned and the specific context in which we collect it. However, we will normally process your personal information only where: (a) we have your consent to do so; (b) we need the personal information to perform a contract with you (e.g. to provide the services you have requested); or (c) the processing is in our or a third party's legitimate interests (and not overridden by your data protection interests or fundamental rights and freedoms). In some cases, we may also have a legal obligation to process your personal information, or may otherwise use your personal information to protect your vital interests or those of another person.

Where we rely on your consent to process your personal information, you have the right to withdraw or decline your consent at any time. Please note that this does not affect the lawfulness of the processing based on consent before its withdrawal.

If we ask you to provide personal information to comply with a legal requirement or to perform a contract with you, we will make this clear at the relevant time and advise you whether the provision of your personal information is mandatory or not (as well as of the possible consequences if you do not provide your personal information). Similarly, if we collect and use your personal information in reliance on our (or a third party's) legitimate interests which are not already described in this Policy, we will make clear to you at the relevant time what those legitimate interests are.

If you have any questions about or need further information concerning the legal basis on which we collect and use your personal information, please contact us using the contact details provided further below.

How Long We Retain Your Personal Information

We will retain your personal information for as long is needed to fulfill the purposes set forth in this Policy, unless a longer retention period is required or permitted by law (such as tax, accounting, or other legal requirements). When we have no ongoing legitimate business need to process your personal information, we will either delete or anonymize it, or, if this is not possible (for example, because your personal information has been stored in backup archives), then we will securely store your personal information and isolate it from any further processing until deletion is possible.

For personal information that we process on behalf of a client institution, we will retain such personal information in accordance with the terms of our agreement with them, subject to applicable law.

5. Sharing Of Information Collected

We share your personal information as necessary to provide the services you request, including sharing information with third party service providers; when required by law; to protect rights and safety; and with your consent.

To Provide the Services You Request

Personal information is required for us to be able to provide the services to you. You are required to provide personal information in order to create an account with us. When you use our services to submit a form that we host for a client institution, the information you entered into that form will be disclosed to that client institution. In addition, please note that when you enter information into a form that we host for a client institution, the information you enter into that form will be disclosed to that client institution regardless of whether or not you ever complete the form and submit it. You may access a form that is “in progress” and modify the information you have entered into it by following the instructions on the form. After you submit the form, you will not be able to access or modify the information submitted on that form without assistance from us. Once your personal information has been disclosed to a client institution, the privacy statements and information practices of that institution will govern the institution’s use of the information disclosed.

Third Party Service Providers

We share information, including personal information, with our third party service providers that we use to provide hosting for and maintenance of our Websites, application development, backup, storage, payment processing, analytics, and other services for us. These third party service providers may have access to or process your personal information for the purpose of providing these services for us. We do not permit our third party service providers to use the personal information that we share with them for their marketing purposes or for any purpose other than in connection with the services they provide to us.

Compliance with Laws and Law Enforcement Requests; Protection of Our Rights

In certain situations, we may be required to disclose personal information in response to lawful requests by public authorities, including to meet national security or law enforcement requirements. We may disclose personal information to respond to subpoenas, court orders, or legal process, or to establish or exercise our legal rights or defend against legal claims. We may also share such information if we believe it is necessary in order to investigate, prevent, or take action regarding illegal activities, suspected fraud, situations involving potential threats to the physical safety of any person, the safety and security of our services, violations of our Terms of Use or Terms of Service, or as otherwise required by law.

Community Forums

The Websites may offer publicly accessible blogs, community forums, comments sections, discussion forums, or other interactive features (“Interactive Areas”). You should be aware that any information that you post in an Interactive Area might be read, collected, and used by others who access it. To request removal of your personal information from an Interactive Area, contact us at privacy_help@collegenet.com. In some cases, we may not be able to remove your personal information, in which case we will let you know if we are unable to do so and why.

We share personal information with third parties when we have your consent to do so.

6. Transfer of Information (GDPR)

Personal information we collect will be processed in the United States and possibly transferred to entities in other jurisdictions. BY PROVIDING YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION TO US, YOU CONSENT TO ANY TRANSFER AND PROCESSING IN ACCORDANCE WITH THIS POLICY.

WE HEREBY INFORM YOU THAT THERE ARE POTENTIAL RISKS TO YOU ASSOCIATED WITH TRANSFERRING YOUR INFORMATION TO THE UNITED STATES DUE TO THE ABSENCE OF AN ADEQUACY DECISION AND APPROPRIATE SAFEGUARDS. THESE RISKS INCLUDE THE RISK THAT YOU WILL NOT BE ABLE TO EXERCISE YOUR DATA PROTECTION RIGHTS UNDER APPLICABLE LAW TO PROTECT YOURSELF FROM UNLAWFUL USE OR DISCLOSURE OF YOUR INFORMATION.

IF YOU ARE VISITING OUR WEBSITES OR UTILIZING OUR SERVICES FROM THE EUROPEAN UNION OR OTHER REGIONS WITH LAWS GOVERNING DATA COLLECTION AND USE, YOU ARE AGREEING TO THE TRANSFER OF YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION TO THE UNITED STATES AND POSSIBLY OTHER JURISDICTIONS.

7. Your Privacy Rights

You have certain rights regarding your personal information, as set forth in this Policy and applicable law.

Right to Access and Right to Delete

If you provide us with personal information in connection with your use of our Websites or services, you have the right to access this information and the right to have this information deleted, subject to certain limitations. For some of our services, you have the ability to access, change, and delete the information in your account. Some of our services require you to contact us to request access or deletion.

We will not deny you access to your personal information unless applicable law or regulatory requirements allow or require us to refuse to provide some or all of the personal information that we hold about you. Notwithstanding a request to delete information, we may retain information for as long as you maintain an account for our services, as needed to provide you with the services you requested, to comply with our legal obligations, resolve disputes, and enforce our agreements, or because the information is in an Interactive Area.

To make a request to access or delete your personal information maintained by us, please do one of the following things: (1) complete the request form at: www.applyweb.com/privacy/exercise_rights.html; or (2) call the following toll free phone number 833-775-0977. If that is not sufficient to verify your identity/authority, we may request additional information or documentation from you (such as a copy of your photo identification and/or written authorization for an agent to act on your behalf). This additional information will only be used for the purposes of verifying your identity and will be deleted as soon as practical after processing your request, except as required to comply with applicable law. Please note that we cannot change or delete information that you provided in a form that has already been submitted to a client institution. If you want to update or delete information on such a form, you must contact the client institution to which the form was submitted.

If you request access to or deletion of personal information that we store and process on behalf of a client institution, we will direct you to submit your request to the client institution. Upon receipt of a request from one of our client institutions for us to provide or delete your personal information, we will respond to their request within thirty (30) days. We will retain personal information that we store and process on behalf of our client institutions for as long as needed to provide the services to our client institutions. We will retain and use this personal information as necessary to comply with our legal obligations, resolve disputes, and enforce our agreements.
